

Parents Right To Know Notification

Parents may request information about the qualifications of their child's teacher. The subjects a teacher is licensed to teach can be found on the Minnesota Department of Education website under the heading of teacher licensure.

Schools must notify parents when their child is being taught for 4 or more consecutive weeks by a teacher or paraprofessional that is not highly qualified.

Parents may request their child's name be removed from the class list requested by institutions of higher education and military recruiters.