

Lincoln Elementary student earns perfect score in WordMasters

Lincoln Elementary third grader Olivia Schwintek is among just 86 third graders in the nation to earn a perfect score in the April meet of the WordMasters Challenge, a national language arts competition entered by approximately 220,000 students annually.

Other students at Lincoln who also earned outstanding results in the meet included third graders Ben Kroll, Clay Ansley, Ashley Fettingler, and Josie Moor. The students were coached in preparation for the challenge by Julie Kelly.